

Sun Worshippers Beware!

What You Should Know About Skin Cancer

Presented by:
Ali Hendi, M.D.

Department of Dermatology
Mayo Clinic

Wednesday, Aug. 17 • 7 p.m.
Kinne Auditorium
Cannaday Building
Mayo Clinic
4500 San Pablo Road

A free seminar, open to all.

Florida is the Sunshine State. And whether you spend hours at the beach sunbathing or minutes in your yard gardening, you're exposing your skin to the damaging UV rays that could cause skin cancer.

About 1 million Americans are diagnosed with skin cancer and about 9,800 die every year. Learn how to prevent the disease, how to detect it and what your options are for treatment from dermatologist and Mohs surgeon Dr. Ali Hendi. After his presentation, Dr. Hendi will be available for questions one-on-one.

Space is limited. Call (904) 953-0770 or go to www.MayoClinic.org/jacksonville for reservations.

Mayo Clinic News

- Alzheimer's Research Breakthrough

Last month, researchers at Mayo Clinic, the University of Minnesota and Massachusetts General Hospital were able for the first time to reverse memory loss in mice with significant brain degeneration, a breakthrough that offers hope to the estimated 4 million people living with Alzheimer's disease.

- Simple Success for Diabetes

Join our four-week, comprehensive, outpatient program that teaches self-management skills for diabetics. The series provides 10 hours of instruction taught by a registered dietitian and registered nurse in a supportive, small-group environment. Info: (904) 296-3733.

MAYO CLINIC
Jacksonville, Florida

www.MayoClinic.org/jacksonville